● ABOUT ME

As a dedicated software engineer specializing in full-stack development, I am known for tackling complex challenges and contributing collaboratively to projects. I am an effective communicator with a results-oriented approach, experienced in agile environments. My commitment to excellence and adaptability ensures the delivery of high-quality solutions, seamlessly integrating into diverse teams.

In summary, I am a software engineer committed to exceptional results and a collaborative approach in web application development.

● WORK EXPERIENCE

15/10/2022 – CURRENT Guayana, Venezuela

FULL-STACK DEVELOPER COORPORACIÓN VENEZOLANA DE GUAYANA (C.V.G.)

I led the end-to-end development of an internal network application, covering both frontend design and database implementation. I worked autonomously under direct supervision, focusing on creating an efficient user interface. In the backend, I managed the implementation with different technologies, ensuring solid performance and a robust structure. My contributions were essential to the project's success, demonstrating both technical and managerial skills.
